

11/7/21

The time since my last email to all of you has been filled with lots of hoping, waiting and learning to trust in God's timing as well as some good fun. If you follow me on Instagram you've also seen I've spent a lot of time out in nature doing what I love camping and backpacking. I've also had the chance to have some great times with dear friends and family while I wait. It's been a long and sometimes frustrating process but I finally have just received my visa and am working on heading to the Philippines as soon as possible! The tentative departure date I now have is November 16 and I would appreciate your prayers that the Lord will see fit to let that happen.

As I enter the final stages of preparing to go I'm getting more excited but also a little nervous. I want to be able to adequately and effectively serve the people in Palawan. I would appreciate your prayers that the Lord will use me to be a blessing to those around me. Thank you again so much for the support and well wishes y'all have given me!
