This month, our whole team here got to enjoy the experience of going to El nido in the North of Palawan! (El nido is the main resort/tourist area here.) We got to go to several different beaches as well as go snorkeling on a boat tour!

Aside from that, I've of course been working on Language learning and helping out at the clinic. As well as continuing to help with the Pathfinder club. I'm very thankful because I've started to see some real progress in language learning! I had to give a short testimony in Palawano on the spot for church this week and I'm also preparing to give the worship thought this Wednesday night. As far as clinic work goes, I've seen progress there as well which has been encouraging. Right now I'm trying to learn as fast as possible because they want to send me to do medical work in Kebgen which is another smaller village a good day's hike away.

As always thank you for your prayers for me and the Palawan people.
